

InfoClear LLC – Transforming Data into Action

Business Intelligence Solutions with a Focus on the Customer

Services to Provide Better Business Intelligence and Decision Support Solutions

InfoClear LLC is a leading information technology professional services organization specializing in business intelligence and decision support implementations for federal, state, and commercial organizations. And as a company that focuses entirely on business intelligence deployments, we can commit to providing the highest quality business intelligence solutions for your organization.

InfoClear provides highly experienced consultants and project teams to successfully guide your organization through the implementation of your business intelligence solution. InfoClear's team consists of experienced professionals whose skills encompass the entire life-cycle of business intelligence deployments including strategy, project management, functional and system analysis, report and dashboard development, system administration, middleware and semantic layer development, quality assurance, and end-user mentoring. As a leader in deploying business intelligence and decision support solutions, InfoClear has the skills and experience and to deploy the empowering technologies and solutions that help our clients make better business decisions through intelligent use of their own data.

What Makes Us Unique?

Focus on Implementations of SAP BusinessObjects

Unlike large systems integrators or staffing firms who claim to be experts in every business intelligence product on the market, we specialize in implementations of the market leading SAP BusinessObjects. And our entire business intelligence practice is built around the product suite from SAP BusinessObjects. As a result, we are able to deliver solutions faster, cheaper and with less risk than bigger companies who do not specialize in implementations of business intelligence products from SAP BusinessObjects.

Customer-Centric Solutions

InfoClear rethinks traditional business intelligence initiatives to ensure technological priorities actually align with customer objectives. Our solutions are based upon collaboration and team-work with our customers to fully meet the customer's specific and unique decision making requirements. To get the most value from a business intelligence solution, we fully look at the current and future state of an organization's infrastructure, data, needs, and goals and only implement solutions that focus on the success of the customer.

Deep Understanding of Business Intelligence

To each organization, business intelligence means something different. Our meaning is very simple... empower organizational decision-makers by converting data into information and giving the users the ability to make decisions based upon information rather than gut feelings. InfoClear always ensures that the right level of information is provided to organizational decision-makers so that they can make better and more informed decision. To this end InfoClear develops and deploys business intelligence solutions for the right level of decision-making within an organization that includes solutions for executives, managers, operations staff, and analysts.
